Australian Formularies: A directory listing all the drugs recommended and available for prescribing in Australia.

Australian Medicines Handbook (hardcopy)

Australian Pharmaceutical Formulary and Handbook

Drug monograph: A drug monograph is produced once the drug product has been registered and is available on the market. It provides the name of the substance, its therapeutic use, package, storage and labelling requirements.

Australian Medicines Handbook (electronic)

Micromedex

Drug interactions: A pharmacologic response due the presence of another drug, herbal medicine, food, drink or some environmental agent.

Micromedex (drug interactions)

MIMS online drug interactions

Australian product and consumer information: Provides a summary of drug information and are usually organised in monograph format.

MIMS Online

AusDI

Clinical practice guidelines: These are developed to help practitioners make decisions regarding appropriate health care for specific clinical circumstances. It consists of a listing of diseases and conditions, and the drugs used to treat them.

eTG complete (electronic)

Therapeutic Guidelines (hardcopy)

Point-of-care tools: Information tools that provide health care professionals with synthesised evidence to guide decision making.

UpToDate

DynaMed Plus

BMJ Best Practice

Complementary and Alternative Medicine Sources: An approach to healthcare outside conventional medicine.

Natural Medicines database

Natural and Alternative Treatments database